

Connect Dallas

Frequently Asked Questions

What is a mobility plan?

A mobility plan is a tool that cities use to address the public's ability to travel to and from destinations. Connectivity between live, work, and play opportunities as well as access to transportation options to make those trips are emphasized in a mobility plan.

What is the purpose of Connect Dallas?

Connect Dallas provides the first-ever strategic transportation investment strategy for the City. The strategy outlines policy, program, and project investment recommendations that will enhance the public's ability to travel to and from destinations within Dallas. All forms of transportation are considered, including biking, walking, transit, automobiles, freight, and new mobility options, such as bike-share, transportation network companies and e-scooters.

Who is leading development of Connect Dallas?

The Dallas Department of Transportation has developed Connect Dallas collaboratively with other City departments. This effort has been coordinated with partner agencies such as the North Central Texas Council of Governments (NCTCOG), Dallas County, Dallas Area Rapid Transit (DART), the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT), the North Texas Tollway Authority (NTTA), and Dallas-Fort Worth Airport.

When will Connect Dallas be complete?

Connect Dallas has been developed over an 18-month period. City Council adoption and final plan rollout are anticipated in Spring/Summer 2021.

How can I get involved?

We value your input! The draft plan is available for review and your feedback is critical to make sure we meet the needs of everyone who lives, plays, and works in Dallas. We hope you will take some time to view the plan's goals and strategies and let us know what you think. The public comment period closes February 5, 2021. Take the survey
